

RESIGNATION OF TSA PRESIDENT, KEVIN FURST

Due to ill health, Kevin Furst, has found it necessary to resign as President of TSA. Recently, while travelling in Germany, Kevin became ill and sought medical attention.

On his return to Australia, Kevin has been made aware of the seriousness of his heart condition and advised to reduce his workload. Regrettably, Kevin has informed the executive and all Divisional Presidents of his decision.

We thank Kevin for his contributions in leading Tennis Seniors over the past six months and extend all best wishes to him for a speedy recovery in the hope that doctors can find a solution to his problems and that he can return to playing tennis in the near future.

With the ensuing vacancy on the executive and in observing the constitution, the executive will consider its options over the next few days and will inform all Divisional Presidents and members of its determination.

Tom Hancy

Honorary secretary

July 15th, 2011